Alexandria Organization to Hold Labor Day Picnic at the Dyke.

STORES CLOSE AT NOON

Many Residents Leave for Country and Seaside Resorts—Fraternal Americans to Meet Soon.

Alexandria, Va., Sept. 4.—Labor Day will be observed here by a general suspension of business. Banks, city and government offices will be closed all day. Nearly all of the stores will close at noon. Hundreds of the city's residents have left the city for the various country and seaside resorts. Most of those who have gone will not return until Monday night or Tuesday.

The only celebration in this vicinity will be that to be given at the Dyke, two miles below Alexandria, on the Washington-Virginia Railway, under auspices of the Alexandria trades council. This will take the form of an all-day picnic. There will be baseball, athletic events and music. Indications are that it will be largely patronized by the committee on arrangements having prepared an attractive program.

The exercises will begin at 10 o'clock with a ball game between the Machinists and Glassblowers, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon there will be another game between the Cardinals of this city and the Holy Trinity team of Washington.

The committee in charge of the trades council's celebration is composed of J. Larkin, chairman; J. K. Sparrow, T. N. N. C. A. W. Shunk, past controller; Washington, D. C., and John H. Trimyer, State treasurer, this city.

DOCTORS CUT NERVE TO END MAN'S AGONY

New York Surgeons Perform Daring Operation to Save Patient from Insanity.

New York, Sept. 4.—Surgeons at Beth Israel Hospital, 70 Jefferson street, today were pleased with their daring operation that ended a man's agony by severing the nerve that transmitted pain sensation to the brain.

Max Solomon, 40, of 213 Madison street, is afflicted with Raynaud's disease, which affects the arms and legs and causes the extremities to become cold, white, congested and, in many cases, gangrenous. The man's agony was driving him to insanity when the surgeons decided on the operation.

Solomon's right leg had been amputated. The left leg was affected. The operating surgeons cut the inner cut of the nerve at the point where sensation enters on its way to the brain. Since the operation the patient has had no sensation in the stump.

TEN SUBS BUILT IN U. S. CROSSED OCEAN

Now in War for Britain—Achievement of American Firm Unequaled in Submarine Construction.

New York, Sept. 4.—According to a story published here today, ten submarines were built by an American firm, crossed the Atlantic under their own steam and became units of the British navy, five now being stationed off Heligoland and five operating at the Dardanelles.

America's achievement, so the story goes, accomplished the trans-Atlantic submarine while the rest of the world was dreaming of the possibility of such a feat being developed.

The work was done by the Bethlehem Steel Company as a contract obtained in England by Charles M. Schwab. The parts were made in this country and assembled at Montreal, because of the ruling of the Secretary of State that submarines for the warring powers could not be built in the United States. It is pointed out that the long cruise of the submarines has not been made in the waters of Canada in charge of crews sent over from England for the purpose.

The building capacity of the Bethlehem Steel Company, in conjunction with the Electric Boat Company, in 1900 submarines a year. This, it is said, will be doubled in the near future.

Officials of the Navy Department had nothing surprising to them in the publication of the story. The submarine crossed the Atlantic from Canada recently and now are serving with the allied forces in European and Turkish waters. It is pointed out that the long cruise of the submarines is nothing remarkable, submarines of the United States having frequently made cruises of equal distance. Only last year a division of submarines was sent out to Honolulu from the west coast.

It is pointed out that the department that many parts of submarines have been built in the United States and sent to Canada to go into the construction of submarines. The Navy Department has not attempted to exercise any control over such manufacture and exportation, and is thought quite probable that American labor and American material played a large part in the construction of the ten submarines said to have been launched in Canadian waters and sent across the Atlantic.

A New Idea in Sculpture.
New York, Sept. 4.—J. Hammond Smith, professor of civil engineering at the University of Pittsburgh, has by applying his profession to the arts of photography and sculpture, perfected a device which will probably revolutionize the world of sculpture. A subject or object can be photographed at various angles with two cameras, and then reproduced on any scale in clay, marble or bronze. Prof. Smith has in his room at the Hotel McAlpin a portrait bust of Dr. John A. Braheer, the astronomer, who was selected by Gov. Brumbaugh and a committee of Pennsylvania editors, as the State's most prominent citizen to receive the medal decoration of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. By a combination of the statue likeness and a photographic likeness which is projected by a stereoscopic on the bust, a marvelous likeness is obtained which has every appearance of a living person. By Prof. Smith's device, which he calls the Stereoscopic, record photographs may be made of a living subject, and these photographs need not be reproduced later in marble or bronze.

German Press Bows TO U-BOAT DECISION.
Change in Submarine Policy Won't Affect War's Outcome—Editors Say Will Help Balkan Neutrality.

Berlin (via Amsterdam), September 4.—Germany's acceptance of the American proposals as to the manner of waging submarine warfare is indorsed by the leading Teutonic newspapers.

The Tagblatt in an article by Theodore Wolff, its editor, sounds the keynote of the opinion held by the better-class German papers in the following words:

"The concession that passenger ships shall be torpedoed only after warning and saving non-combatants will certainly not have a far-reaching influence on the outcome of the war, and if a way is now found to render easier the prevention of painful catastrophes such as that of the Lusitania, that is clearly to our interest and in line with our feelings."

The Tagblatt's editor believes that the prevention of a break between Germany and America is bound to have its effect on the Balkan nations, which will be deterred from joining the allies.

Expenses of U. S. DOUBLED BY WAR
Representative Flood Says Larger Appropriations Are Necessary.

Representative Flood, of Virginia, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, declared that larger appropriations would have to be made at the next session of Congress to carry for the work of the State Department which practically has doubled on account of the European war.

"Take the emergency fund, for instance," Mr. Flood said. "We are now appropriating $400,000 a year for that purpose. If we are to keep pace with the situation that has developed abroad, if we are to keep abreast of all that is going on confidentially in the various parts of Europe, if we are to know what other governments of Europe should know about what their neighboring governments are doing, we must have a greater emergency fund and double the $400,000 at least should be provided by Congress."

"The foreign work of the United States government has grown to an immense volume. The legations and embassies in Europe have assumed a greatly augmented burden in handling matters arising from the war. The consular force already has been recognized, but they are being taxed with increased duties all along the line. We have got to shape the legislation coming from our committee to meet these enlarged foreign activities."

She was rushed to Emergency Hospital, where it was said her condition was not serious.

The police say she had quarreled with her husband yesterday afternoon while they were out together. When the couple returned home the wife was despondent. The husband went to their bedroom on the third floor near midnight, but his wife was not there. He searched for her and found her in the bathroom on the second floor. He found her wife nearly exhausted.

If a box six feet deep were filled with sea water which was allowed to evaporate there would be two inches of salt on the bottom of the box.
